The Force Bill-

ever a Democrat in the southern states forgets his environment and ceases to remember the deplorable condition of th in reconstruction days and afrds, there ought to be some good friend near to recall to his mind the pit from which the National Democratic party lifted him. So the address of the Na-tional Association of the Democratic Clubs reminding us of the danger of the revival of the force bill in the next Congress was issued none too soon. We quoted yester-day from this document some of the words of warning which that association has addressed to the people, not of the southern States only, but of all the States. These words of warning are not new, by any means; but they are none the less timely, seeing that even in the reconstructed States there are to be found men so obstinate and perverse as to declare that if their favorite for the presidency is not nominated they will not vote for the nominee. Men whose alle-giance to the South sits so lightly upon them are not the best of citizens. The attach too much importance to the matter of leadership. They regard what is really a secondary matter as one of supreme importance. They substitute themselves and their personal associates for a grand cause, and when they find that their friends and themselves together constitute only an in-significant portion of the community they are tempted to seek that sort of recornition which is notoriety rather than fame.

Of course, the proposed force bill does not provide in so many words for the election of a Republican House of Representa-tives. But it provides the machinery wherewith that result may be brought about, and if the Republican party ever again secures a majority in that House its control of Congress will continue forever or indefinitely. There will be no recon-sideration allowed. The Republicans think now that they made a mistake in allowing the southern States to elect congressmen as soon as they did, and they propose to correct that mistake by securing the House of Representatives and holding possession of it for nobody knows how many years. See how States are now reapportioned for the election of members of the House of Representatives Ohio is gerrymandered so as to send six Democrats and fifteen Republicans. Other States are gerrymandered still more outrageously in order to perpetrate by law Republican shadowing what would soon come to be the practice all over the United States in the matter of electing congressmen, provided so tempting an instrument of oppression as the force bill shall once be placed in the hands of the gang that runs the Republican machine. For the information and use of Democratic speakers we may ere long point out some of the ob-jectionable features of the force bill.

The Government and Newport News The convention of business-men which assembled in Memphis last week has been the subject of much editorial comment throughout the West and South. The large interests it represented, together with the calm and thoughtful character of its deliberations, have commanded the respectful attention of the country. The resolutions adopted on the subject of the Brazilian steamship line recite the fact of a discrimination at Newport News against the importation of coffee there. The convention respectfully urges the company engaged in this act of discrimination to discontinue it. Should this be denied, it demands that the Postmaster-General shall not award to the line any government assistance under the act of

Upon motion of Mr. SHROPSHIRE, of At lanta, the resolutions were so amended as to request the representative in Congress of each city represented in the conven-tion to unite to do all in their power to prevent any award of public money to the line so long as it is engaged in this discrimi-nation against Newport News.

We desire to call the attention of Mr No alls, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, to the position taken by the twenty delegates of St. Louis on this subject, and of the great interest manifested by that delegation in a good service at Newport News with the Brazils. Many of these gentlemen are importers of coffee, and they declared that if the Chesapeake and Ohio would furnish a proper service they would give the pre-ference to Newport News on all their im-portations of coffee. St. Louis imports direct nearly 200,000 bags of coffee annually. Chicago imports more. Both of these great cities desire commercial free-dom from New York, and both are ready to load cars at Newport News.

The situation in a nutshell is that if the friends of Newport News—that is to say, all the people who desire a competitive coffee market—will exert themselves, the United States and Brazil Mail Steamship Line must withdraw its discriminat order against that port or lose its chance of getting a government subsidy.

To this end the congressmen of the South and Southwest particularly should evert their influence upon Postmaster-General Waranker, who is the govern-ment's representative in this especial matter. The boards of trade and chammatter. The boards of trade and cham-bers of commerce will back them up, and the Chesapeake and Ohio railway should

H. M. Starke & Co., also do so.
It is a fight for a great principle which embodies a commercial right.

It is also a fight for cheaper coffee for the South and West.

The Ohio Gerrymander-The Onio Gerrymander.

The decision of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin, reported by us heretofore, that the act of the Legislature redistricting that State for the election of congressmen and members of the Legislature was unconstitutional did not deter the Republicant of Chiefron to carrymandering their constitutional did not deter the Republi-cans of Ohio from so gerrymandering their State as to render it reasonably certain that in the next national House of Repre-sentatives they will have fifteen members, whilst the Ohio Democrate will have only six. We have never seen the opinion of the Suprems Court of Wisconsin in that case. There is nothing, however, in the Con-stitution of Wisconsin that differentiates that Constitution from the constitutions of the other States in respect of the power of each branch of the Lagicianus as judge of the elections, qualifications so recently decided in the last-named State. The further statement is made that the Chio lawyers are preparing to over-throw the Republican gerrymander of the Buckeye State, and to this end desire to get all the ammunition they can from Wisconsin. It is worthy of note that it is assumed that there is no question raised as to the right of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin to take jurnsdiction in the gerrymander case in the State, notwithstanding the fact that under the Constitution of the United State the mational House of Representatives has full jurisdiction oversuch cases. It may be, nevertheless, that the next House of Representative will proceed to decide the Wisconsin contested-election congressional cases as if no court had ever passed upon the constitutionality of the gerrymander.
